Changing Environment for Venture Capital Transactions

This current environment is bringing back memories of the 2008–2010 timeframe in which adverse developments in the financial markets challenged the availability and cost of growth equity capital. Terms could shift to favor investors for all but the most attractive companies. This advisory summarizes those terms, which have been largely out of favor recently given the company-friendly environment. Click here to read more.

If you have any questions or would like additional information, contact:

David Felman
david.felman@hwhlaw.com
813.227.8483

Nick Outman
nicholas.outman@hwhlaw.com
813.222.8741