INSOLVENCY MATTERS

At Hill Ward Henderson, attorneys in different practice groups work together to draw upon extensive experience within industry-driven practices and to utilize our depth of legal disciplines. This cross-practice approach is a strength that benefits clients as we employ a results-oriented, business-driven focus, particularly in the arena of insolvency and debtor-creditor matters.

Our Bankruptcy & Creditors' Rights Group regularly works with attorneys from the automotive, construction, health care and other practice teams to utilize their substantive knowledge and experience within specific industries to benefit our clients engaged in insolvency issues. In addition, our team practices alongside attorneys from within the corporate, transactional and litigation practice areas in an effort to efficiently and effectively serve our clients' best interests.
