PATENT POST-GRANT PROCEEDINGS

Hill Ward Henderson has a deep understanding of the post-grant proceedings available under the America Invents Act (AIA), including inter partes review (IPR), post-grant review (PGR), and covered business method (CBM) review, as well as ex parte reexaminations. These proceedings provide an efficient way for parties to challenge the validity of issued patents.

Our experienced patent attorneys can assist with all aspects of post-grant proceedings, including filing petitions, responding to petitions, and representing clients in oral hearings. We have experience in a broad range of technical areas, including software, biotech, medical devices, and mechanical inventions.

We work closely with our clients to develop effective strategies that address their unique needs and objectives. Our attorneys have a deep understanding of the legal and technical complexities of post-grant proceedings.
