Firm News

7.13.16

Paul Gargagliano has joined Hill Ward Henderson as the new Chief Financial Officer. Gargagliano comes to Hill Ward Henderson with an extensive background in finance, public, and private accounting and has held several high-level financial positions within the professional services industry. Prior to joining Hill Ward Henderson, he was the Chief Financial Officer at Diversified Maintenance Systems. In addition, Gargagliano served in the United States Coast Guard for over 20 years where he retired as a Master Chief Boatswainmate. He also served in the Airborne Infantry of the United States Army, primarily stationed at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

"There are a lot of qualities important to us when picking the right leader for this position and Paul is passionate about driving our ongoing evolution," said R. James "Jim" Robbins, Jr., Managing Shareholder of Hill Ward Henderson. "We remain focused on our mission and we are confident that Paul will help us skillfully and successfully continue to grow while staying aligned with our organizational ethics and client centric focus."

Gargagliano has a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of South Florida. He is a Certified Public Accountant in the States of California and Florida.

"I am very excited to take on this role at Hill Ward Henderson," said Gargagliano. "Hill Ward Henderson has grown significantly and I am both honored and thrilled to lead the firm to deliver on the firm's strategic initiatives and ensure that we are in a continued position of financial strength for years to come."
